

To: Ofrane, Rebecca[OFrane.Rebecca@epa.gov]; R2 Children's Health Team[R2_Childrens_Health_Team@epa.gov]
From: Laborde, Ivette
Sent: Tue 8/15/2017 2:11:30 PM
Subject: Re: Just FYI / News21: Schools fail lead tests while many states don't require testing at all

It would be great if we could push for lead testing in drinking water in elementary schools in PR.....

From: Ofrane, Rebecca
Sent: Tuesday, August 15, 2017 9:55:55 AM
To: R2 Children's Health Team
Subject: Just FYI / News21: Schools fail lead tests while many states don't require testing at all

A thorough summary of the lead in school DW issue, with discussion of Camden and Newark too.

Schools fail lead tests while many states don't require testing at all

While schools often struggle with the aftermath of finding lead in their drinking water, education advocates and health professionals agree that there's an even costlier scenario: not knowing at all.

News21

<https://troubledwater.news21.com/schools-fail-lead-tests-while-many-states-dont-require-testing-at-all/> and Part II - The Effect of Water Contamination on Health: <https://troubledwater.news21.com/fear-of-the-unknown-the-effect-of-water-contamination-on-health/>